

Getting Individual Health Insurance Through Your Risk Pool – Transcription

When it comes to state high risk pools, most states do not have a guaranteed issued plan. If you are in a state that has a health risk pool such as Florida, Texas, and most of the other states except one being Michigan, you may not be able to get a traditional individual health plan if you have pre-existing conditions. Instead, you need to apply to the state health pool for health insurance.

If you go to the website, you will find tab in which you can apply for the state health pool in which you reside. It will give you the different prices depending on what state you live in. It may be a little more expensive than an individual health plan, but you can pay the monthly premium and you will have health insurance even with the pre-existing condition.
